

Hekate's Ritual and Supper

The true origins of Hekate appear to be lost amongst the mists of time however She is believed to have been a popular chthonian Goddess attested in early Mycenaean Greece as well as in Thace. Later, the Hellenic Greeks adapted Her into their pantheon where, although not considered a part of the Olympians, She had retained dominion over Sky, Earth and the Underworld making Her the bestower of wealth and the blessings of life.

In modern times, this Great Goddess is said rule over the Moon, Wytchcraft and magick, and even necromancy, with the crossroads being a special place to find Her shrines.

The Temple of the Dark Moon, together with The Goddess House, will be holding a special event in honour of this powerful Goddess of the Crossroads on Saturday, 15 August 2009, the evening before one of Her most sacred of days.

Venue: Temple of the Dark Moon's covenstead, Parafield Gardens (actual address provided upon registration)
